CASE # C178AF25-12BD-4224-93DA-2C5EA158349A

JUDGMENT

Comes now, a Judgment and Order by the Human Rights Tribunal,

WHEREAS, the tort claimant has claimed within the evidence submitted to this tribunal that Daniel Nielson and Suffolk County National Bank (hereinafter “tortfeasors”) are determined to be the tortfeasors, and

WHEREAS, in accordance with the evidence that the promissory note was deposited into an account of the original bank, and a check was written in the amount of the promissory note and handed to the seller by the bank, and

WHEREAS, the tort claimant has no intention of abandoning the property nor was the seller at closing with the original bank, and

WHEREAS, the tortfeasors have made no attempt to respond to the tort claimants correspondence, and

WHEREAS, the efforts of the tortfeasors to maliciously cloud a title, commit a fraud before the court through its trustees and agents, making false and misleading statements, and tarnish the reputation of the tort claimant by implementing a forced eviction, are in violation of:

Article 25 of the Universal Declaration of Human Rights: “(1) Everyone has the right to a standard of living adequate for the health and well-being of himself and of his family, including food, clothing, housing and medical care and necessary social services, and the right to security in the event of unemployment, sickness, disability, widowhood, old age or other lack of livelihood in circumstances beyond his control.” And,

Article 17 of the Universal Declaration of Human Rights: “(1) Everyone has the right to own property alone as well as in association with others.

(2) No one shall be arbitrarily deprived of his property.” And,

JUDGMENT

NOW THEREFORE:

BE IT JUDGED, that the tort claimants claim that the property is free and clear of all encumbrances is correct, and
